

Gap between LatAm and US under discussion

The prestigious US researcher Francis Fukuyama, along with former presidents from Uruguay, Julio María Sanguinetti, and Mexico, Ernesto Zedillo, will meet with economists and intellectuals for the international conference, "Explaining the gap between Latin America and the US." The objective of the seminar, which takes place today and tomorrow, in the Malba centre is to analyze political, institutional, and legal factors that help to explain the different stages of development between Latin America and the US. The meeting is organized by the Daniel Chávez Morán Foundation and the Torcuato Di Tella university.
